Title: Flash Study

Team: Keila Cressman

Version: 0.0.1

Table of Contents

Intro

I could not find a good app or site to help me study for a programming interview. This interactive web app will allow you to create flashcards that will then be shuffled to quiz you. It will divide your answers into 2 categories which you choose. The first are correctly answered questions and the second are the cards you did not know or would like to get quizzed on more.

The first screen will ask for your username and password to keep track of your score and categories of flashcards. Once you enter your profile you can enter the subject you are studying for and create cards. You can create, edit, view, and update the cards.

JOURNEY

1) Idea
2) Created google doc for documentation
3) Created a new repo in Github for source control and created a KanBan board to see my tasks
4) Connect to Github with Git Bash